

Nyhetsbrev: Nordiska Nätverket för Narrativ Medicin, juni 2023

Svensk förening för Narrativ Medicin bjuder in till Filmfestival med temat: Att se människan. Göteborg den 26 & 27 oktober 2023.

Välkomna till den andra filmfestivalen med Narrativ medicin i fokus. Under två dagar visar vi fyra filmer på bio Capitol i Göteborg med efterföljande samtal med inbjudna gäster och festivalens deltagare. På torsdag kväll blir det mingel och middag.

Mer information om filmer och program samt anmälan på länken nedan.

Dagarna ges som en kurs och vänder sig till alla som är intresserad av vårdens berättelser. Vi ser filmen som ett verktyg för att reflektera runt vårdens värdefrågor.

The first Translation and Medical Humanities international conference will take place at the University of Oxford, 5-6 September 2023.

We now accept proposals for 20-minute papers, and we would love to hear from you. The submission deadline is 30 June 2023.

The conference brings together researchers at all career stages working in translation studies, transcultural studies, comparative and world literatures, health and medical humanities, environmental humanities, and the history and philosophy of knowledge to examine concepts and experiences of wellbeing, health and disease transculturally and transhistorically, as well as across ecosystems.

A full description of the conference's design and goals, as well as instructions on how to submit your proposal, can be found here.

The conference is organised by Dr Marta Arnaldi and Prof John Ødemark, in collaboration with Oxford Comparative Criticism and Translation, and with the contribution of Pitt Rivers Museum, University of Oxford, and Medical Humanities, The Oxford Research Centre in the Humanities (TORCH), University of Oxford. It is generously funded by Bodies in Translation: Science, Knowledge and Sustainability in Cultural Translation, Department of Culture Studies and Oriental Languages, University of Oslo, and The Research Council of Norway.

Confirmed speakers include Emily Apter, Julius Silver Professor of French and Comparative Literature, NYU; Mona Baker, Affiliate Professor, Centre for Sustainable Healthcare Education, University of Oslo; Polly Barton, literary translator (from Japanese) and author of Fifty Sounds; Charles Briggs, Distinguished Professor of Anthropology, UC Berkeley; Charles Forsdick, James Barrow Professor of French, University of Liverpool; Trish Greenhalgh, Professor of Primary Care Health Sciences, University of Oxford; and Alison Phipps, UNESCO Chair in Refugee Integration through Languages and the Arts.

SAVE THE DATE: Om nästan precis ett år ses vi på Nordiska Nätverket för Narrativ Medicins nätverksmöte i Trondheim 13-14 juni 2024.

Call for Papers skickas ut i början av hösten.
